5TH ANNUAL PUERTO RICO FALL CANCER SYMPOSIUM 2015
“Cancer Genomics: The Saga of Personalized Medicine Continues”

October 30 - November 1, 2015
La Concha Renaissance Hotel San Juan
1077 Ashford Avenue
San Juan, Puerto Rico
CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES

- Identify and treat complications related to the disease process,
- Recognize the clinical indications, risks and benefits of combined treatments,
- Apply genetic and biomarker testing to personalize therapy in cancer care,
- Understand the latest advances in chemotherapy treatments in neutropenic fever, bony metastases, as well as management of supportive care in oncology such as management of emesis, melanoma, and non small cell lung cancer (NSCLC) will be evaluated.
- The latest advances in targeted therapies for genito-urinary cancers (GU), brain tumors, malignant head and neck cancers, hematological malignancies (i.e., multiple myeloma, acute lymphoblastic leukemia, acute myeloid leukemia, myelodysplastic syndromes, and myeloproliferative neoplasms), will also be discussed.
- The role of immunotherapies, including checkpoint inhibitors and chimeric antigen receptor T-cell therapies, will be explored.
- The conference will promote collaborative interactions between oncology professionals and family medicine practitioners, emphasizing the importance of interdisciplinary care.

CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION

The 5th Annual Puerto Rico Fall Cancer Symposium 2015 is designed for clinicians involved in the treatment of cancer patients. The symposium will feature presentations from experts doing cutting-edge research in cancer prevention and treatment.

CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION
This is a three day course designed for medical oncologists, radiation oncologists, surgical oncologists, advanced registered nurse practitioners (ARNP), physician assistants (PA), oncology nurses, registered pharmacists, pharmacy technicians, and radiation therapists. General practitioners (internal medicine and family medicine) will have the benefit of a review of the standard of care and new developments in cancer therapy. Residents in training and fellows from these specialties are encouraged to attend.

Topics in breast cancer, gastrointestinal (GI) malignancies, head and neck cancers, hematological malignancies (i.e., multiple myeloma, CLL, CML, and Non-Hodgkin’s lymphoma), genito-urinary cancers (GU), brain tumors, malignant melanoma, and non small cell lung cancer (NSCLC) will be presented. There will also be a special session devoted to supportive care in oncology such as management of emesis, neutropenic fever, bony metastases, as well as management of side effects from novel immunotherapy therapy agents.

The areas of focus for this conference will include the review of current standards of care in the treatment of all malignancies and new developments in cancer care. There will be a emphasis on molecular diagnosis and individualization of cancer therapy based on molecular profiles.

Presentations from latest national (ASCO 2015 or ASH 2014) and International (ESMO 2015) meetings will be reviewed and guidelines of cancer care will be emphasized. The participants in the meeting will have a chance not only to hear outstanding reviews of these topics but also personal interaction with our oncology experts in the field during our questions and answer sessions.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES
Upon completion of this course attendees will be able to:

• Understand the latest advances in chemotherapy treatments in the areas of lung cancer, breast cancer, prostate, gastrointestinal malignancies, and others as well as hematological malignancies (CLL, CML, multiple myeloma, non-Hodgkin Lymphoma).

• Apply genetic and biomarker testing to personalize therapy in malignant diseases and evaluate the current standards of care in the treatment of several cancer diagnoses.

• Recognize the clinical indications, risks and benefits of combined modality treatments for NSCLC, head and neck, gastrointestinal malignancies, breast cancer and some hematological malignancies.

• Identify and treat complications related to the disease process, chemotherapy and novel biological agents by applying the proper use of supportive care and on time acute interventions.

• Discuss novel tumorigenesis pathways as potential target for drug development as well as immunologic manipulation as a mechanism to fight against different tumor types.

ACCREDITATION
The Medical Educator Consortium is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

CREDIT HOURS (CME)
The Medical Educator Consortium, designates this live activity for a maximum of 11.0 hours AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s). Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

NURSING CEU
This course has been approved for 9.35 hours of nursing credits provided by JEEPR. (For PR Nurses)

FACULTY DISCLOSURE STATEMENT
The Medical Educator Consortium (MEC) adheres to the ACCME Standards for Commercial Support. All persons that will be in a position to control the content of the CME Activity are required to disclose all relevant financial relationships. Faculty disclosure forms outlining this information will be made available to all participants prior to educational activity. MEC has also implemented a mechanism to identify and resolve all conflicts of interest prior to the education activity being delivered to learners. The source of all support from commercial interests will also be disclosed to learners prior to the beginning of the educational activity.
